Editor's Message

*Take time to work, it's the price of success.
Take time to think, it's the source of power.
Take time to play, it's the secret of youth.
Take time to read, it's the foundation of wisdom.
Take time to be friendly, it's the road to happiness.
Take time to dream, it's like hitching your wagon to a star.
Take time to look around, it's too short a day to be selfish.
Take time to laugh, it's the music of the soul.*

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

"Only the choices and tastes and judgements of healthy human beings will tell us much about what is good for the human species in the long run"

A. Moslow

Today a majority of citizens sincerely believe that the future of our civilization and especially of our democratic beliefs is more dependant upon education than upon armed might. Certainly the twentieth century with its tremendous explosion of knowledge in all fields provides real challenge for teaching and learning. What must we choose, for choose we must as the true essentials from this vast mass of knowledge which, if our society is to survive, must be successfully transmitted to the oncoming generation? What can we point to in answer to oncoming youth's quest today for openness and real meaning to life? How does one approach practically and humanly a fundamental study of basic attitudes and values that will make life more meaningful?

May I submit that Harry Ainlay Composite High School students and staff together have been wrestling with these issues during the school year 1973-74. Our attitudes and values, what matters and how much, successes and failures, happy and proud occasions are mirrored in this Titan Tradition yearbook for future generations. I take pleasure in commending this history to your careful perusal now and in the years to come. I must also compliment the editor and the yearbook staff for their efforts and ability in producing this fine document of our 1973-74 school year.

M. F. Smeltzer

President's Message

Another year has come to an end in Harry Ainlay's history. Some of you will be returning while others, such as myself, will not be walking these halls that have seen so much growth and change in us all, as students any longer. I would like to thank all the great people (students, teachers, executive members administration, especially Mr. Bateman) who have worked so hard and cooperated in making '73-'74 such a good year for us all.

And now for a few words of wisdom from one who oft times displays a lack of it. Become involved and concerned about your life on all levels of awareness and action. Always be examining the pressures that society inflicts upon you. Accept only what you wish to accept; don't be, as Dylan put it, "Bent out of shape by society's pliers". Be yourself, but be always striving for self improvement. Take an interest in yourself, for the future is yours and yours to decide. Find out how you are manipulated, and if you don't like it, do something about it. Learn about politics and its effect on you. In future years, remember this school year as the year of Watergate and the energy crisis. Think about how much culture changed in one short year.

In closing, I wish you all the very best in the future; I hope you won't shirk your duty to make the world a better place for us all to live in. So until we all meet again in that big education factory in the sky.

Farewell!

Merrill Lynch Jr. was inactive yesterday due to unstable conditions which caused his temperature to hit an intra-high of 102 degrees and close at 101 3/4, up three points from Wednesday's norm. This touched off a flurry of rumors that he might be planning to acquire the flu. However, such reports proved unsubstantiated this morning when he opened with 98 $\frac{1}{2}$. Please excuse his absence, which can only be attributed to a speculative interest of his mother.

For the first time in the last four years, the Senior Titans did not make the playoffs. It was great disappointment for a team that should have been there. However, the season did provide a measure of excitement and satisfaction for the players. There was the famous "mud bowl", the last game of the season against Bonnie Doon, which was perhaps Ainlay's best game. The defense came up 'really big' that night. An aggressive front nine, along with a strong pass defense, kept the explosive Lancers off the scoreboard in the first half. During the year, it was a veteran line that opened the holes for Grant 'Gus' Yuzyk. This year, Ainlay's big full-back led the scoring derby, was second in rushing and was selected to All-City team. Another running back that made a big contribution was Bob Lalonde. His 171 yds. rushing against L.S.L. and a touchdown run against Bonnie Doon were certainly exciting moments for Ainlay faithful. A disappointing year - true! But not a losing one.

The Junior Titan Football team completed another very successful season in winning the South Side championship for 1973. They went through the regular season with 6 wins and no losses, but lost out in the semifinals to the Jasper Place Rebels. The team was again coached by Mr. Hignell and Mr. Vague, who have taken their team to the playoffs every year but one. Offensive stars on the team were fullback Skip Kerr, who got 9 touchdowns and 860 yards. Halfback Bruce Hougan gained 525 yards and 6 touchdowns. Defensive stars were corner linebacker Ken Gaalaas and also opposite corner linebacker Harry Blacker, who led their defensive squad to a total of 39 points against in the whole year. Good luck, Juniors in 1974!

VOLLEY

The Senior Girls' Volleyball team this year, found their strenuous workouts to be worthwhile. With their abundance of team effort and sportsmanship, the girls worked their way up to the City Quarterfinals. With the skillful help of their coach, Mrs. Farr, the girls' team learned many new volleyball skills, while enjoying their workouts at the same time. There was a lot of stiff competition for the team throughout the season, but few of them proved to go without competition from our team. During the season, the girls' team suffered several permanent injuries, that forced the team to work all the harder to gain their victories. A special thanks goes to the volleyball team's coach, Mrs. Farr, who proved to provide her team with its spirit as well as with its skills. With the return of most of the girls next year, we're viewing next year to be one of our best yet!

This year, the Junior Girls' Volleyball team consisted of all Grade 10's, with the exception of the two captains, Sharon Bussard and Jan Ives. Even though we only managed to make it to the playoffs, we were proud to represent Ainlay in our league. Thanks to everyone, we had great team spirit.

CROSS-COUNTRY

The Girls' Cross-Country team this year consisted of Kirsty MacInnes, Kim Wozney, Kate Peacock, Jennifer Graham, and Carol Lefsrud. They won the Girls' Open race in the Interschool Cross-Country meet. Kirsty continued on to the top to compete in the Provincials, where she finished among the top twelve.

We are the Boys' Cross-Country team. We ran with spikes on our feet. When we run, we can run a long way without stopping. Very good. We do not smoke or drink. We chase girls in the bush. We have fun. We skip cross-country training. We lose a lot. But we win, too. Our heroes, Richard Reimer, Andy Law. Other members include Dean Olmstead, Robby Befus, Grant Grimsrud, Andre Moore, and Darrell Rankin.

Ainlay's Senior Volleyball team had a successful season in 1973. They won 33 out of 44 games, which is 75%, and finished in sixth place. In the playoffs, they did better than many had anticipated and advanced to the second round before being knocked out by McNally. The team attended two tournaments besides the regular season play. One at Scona in which they placed fourth and the other all the way out at Vegreville to play Ken Flanders' team, the Vegreville Vagabounds; there they finished in third place. The reason for their success was the good team spirit led by Coach Thresher. Although he really worked the guys hard, it certainly paid off in the end. Congratulations, guys, and Good Luck next year.

BALL

Ed Steinbring is a setter who has had a good season and is doing well in all aspects of the game; a real scrambler.

Brian Newman is an excellent spiker and has been a great help to the team effort.

Doug (economy size) Kennedy has been spiking pretty good, he also has been having a good season.

Si Peterson has been a fantastic spiker all season (his dad's the coach) and is good at all aspects of the game.

Glen (the arm) Joy can jump about a foot and a half over the net and can really hit the ball if he wants to (and he wants to).

Rick Nielson joined the team late in the season but still in time to help the winning effort of the team, he's also a good setter (and Rick thought football was rougher than volleyball!).

Jim Harris, famous for his slow roll, is also a setter and is able to get some pretty good spikes.

Harvey Batke is also a good setter and invented the "fake spike and set the ball into the net trick".

Doug (regular size) Lepak has been denting the walls with his spikes although he can hit them into the court once in a while.

Keith Salmon has been spiking good and is doing well in all the volleyball skills.

Dave Bigsby has really started to spike in the latter part of the season and it really helped the team a lot.

The '74 Senior Titan Basketball team started a promising season with an eight win, zero loss record for the first half of the regular season play. The Titans earned three trophies: a second place finish in the CAPHER, a consolation win in the Moose Jaw Tournament (after a tense double overtime), and a victory in their own Harry Ainlay Tri-Province Tournament. Hosted teams in the Ainlay-sponsored tournament, which went very well, were Saskatoon's Bedford Road Remen, Calgary's Crescent Heights Cowboys, and Vancouver's Garibaldi Rebels. Titan's finished with a seventh place standing in the second round, A division, and were eliminated in the second round of the playoffs. All in all, it was a successful season.

The Junior Titans had a see-saw year in basketball action during the 1974 season. Starting the season with 8 rookies and returning forward and co-captain, Tom Benz, they compiled an impressive 7 - 1 record for the first half. The Titans finished in first place in the draw and had their best team game all season as they overwhelmed Austin O'Brien 99 - 28.

The second half of the schedule began with an eight point loss to Eastglen. Following a win over Louis St. Laurent by 14, came three losses. By the time the team started to win again, it was almost too late. They won two of their last three games of the schedule to finish in seventh place with a 3 - 5 record, a long way from first place. Things appeared to be improving as the Titans prepared for the city playoffs. They seemed to be getting better and at just the right time. The first game was against McNally, and the season ended there, with a disappointing 48 - 33 loss. A poor shooting first half against a "sun-lit" backboard proved too much for the Titans and they bowed out of the playoffs.

The season was successful for several players on the team. Rebounding was led by Dave Getty while the top scorers were forwards Getty and Brian Newman, as well co-captain and guard, Harry Blacker.

Harry Ainlay's Senior Girls' Basketball team fought onward for victory throughout their season this past year. Although they didn't succeed in gaining many victories, the girls refused to give up, and played their hardest throughout every game. During the season, our girls' team proved to give their rival teams some stiff competition. Their closest game was the last one they played during the season against Queen Elizabeth High School. They edged our girls team by a mere four points. A special thanks is due to the team coach, Miss Silk, who spent long and timely hours working towards the improvement of our Senior Girls' Basketball team. Her patience with the girls was a great asset to their fighting spirit. Manager: Deb Bloomer and Cyndie McIvor. Timer and Scorekeeper: Kim Girtel and Char Shortreed.

Improvements on this year's Junior Girls' Basketball team was noticed this year. We hope to have an even stronger team next year. The team enjoyed working under the direction of Coach Farr. There was good, all around effort from all of the girls.

SWIM TEAM

The Swim Team came in third in the high school swim league this year. This is quite an accomplishment when you realize that this is the first year that Harry Ainlay has had a swim team. Details of meets and team members could not be obtained at the time of writing.

GYMNAStic TEAM

BADMINTON TEAM

After a slow start in South League play, Harry Ainlay's Badminton Team had decisive wins over Scona and McNally to squeeze into second place in the standings behind Scona. In the city finals, the team defeated M.E. Lazerte and Scona in tight games to become city champions for the third time in four years. Leslie McDonald and Kirsti Willis qualified for the City's Provincial Girls' Doubles Champions.

The Junior "B" Soccer Team has improved steadily as the season progressed and always shown a willingness to put in real effort, both in games and in practice. The conduct of the team both on and off the field is something of which Ainlay can be proud. The team will probably be entering the playoffs.

Due to the fact that the senior Soccer Titans coach was also the convenor for the city, he was extremely busy. Although he sincerely tried, he was unable to have a roster and write up completed in time to have it printed in the yearbook.

Members of this and the Junior B Titans will go on to form a strong Senior Team next year and in 1976.

TRACK AND FIELD

The House League Track and Field meet took place on Tuesday, May 14. Students were encouraged to come out and just participate. Afterwards, the winners were asked if they wanted to compete in the interschool divisional meet, which was held on May 23 at Coronation. There, the top three winners of each event went on to the city meet on June 1, while the first and second winners of that meet got to go to the provincials, held in Calgary on June 7 and 8.

CLUBS

The Art Club worked in Ceramics. It operated on a drop-in basis and members worked five days a week if they were keenly interested or one day if they were just mildly interested. Much good work was accomplished. Members meet every Monday to discuss work.

The Biology Club, sponsored by Mrs. Maduram, allows the use of the facilities and personnel of Harry Ainlay for extra-curricular projects in the biological sciences. The majority of current projects are the breeding and raising of animals, ranging from Siamese Fighting Fish to budgies to Guinea pigs. The club's activities have included speakers, films, a bottle drive and a pet sale.

The Chess Club this year operated on a sort of drop-in basis, with about 10 members. People would just come in to play chess in Room 533 every noon hour.

The Debating Club was very successful this year, as evidenced by the growing interest in debating throughout the entire province. One of the more notable successes was the winning of the Churchill Debates by Brad Anholt and John Ferris.

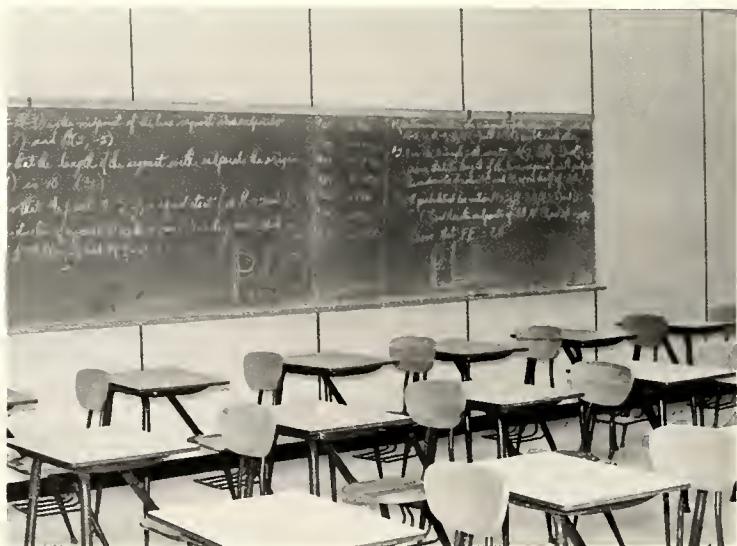

The Drama Club operates very loosely as a club. It encompasses all the co-curricular activities and therefore meets every noon hour. In the fall it prepared Winnie the Pooh for the Theatre Edmonton for Young Audiences. Nine performances were presented in the Art Gallery and elementary schools. Many other requests were received. In total, the group played to over 2000 people. Due to the poor shipping deadlines on our scripts for the 3-Act farce planned for December, it was cancelled. Many one act plays are under production now from which one will be selected to represent the school in the festival. A mini-festival will be held and hopefully a couple of nights of one acts will be held. It is also hoped to present an operetta for small children based on the life of Mother Goose towards the end of the year.

The Electronics Club this year operated as an informal club, with the members coming when they wanted. Membership was restricted to Electronics students and there were about 6 to 10 members. Their activities included preparing their own appliances and building projects such as stereos, amplifiers, and strobes.

The Library Club strives to make the library an attractive and serviceable place. Book and pictorial displays are set up and changed. The circulation desk is manned. Members also help in processing and repair of books and materials. It also helps in the general clean-up.

The Math Club had two main activities this year. Every Monday from November to June about 25 students attend the University of Alberta to learn about computer programming on the 1500 computer. During the month of November through to March, some club members studied for the Math contests which were written in March.

The Senior Harry Ainlay School Band had a very active and entertaining semester under the expert baton of Mr. F. Merrett. They played three major concerts this year, as well as doing a number of performances at the surrounding feeder schools, displaying their magnificent repertoire of over 50 pieces which ranged from Bach to Scott Joplin. The Senior Band also placed second in the Kiwanis Music Festival with a mark of 89%.

The Harry Ainlay Stage Band was organized in March as a noon hour club, and eventually boasted a membership of 18 volunteers. Only a month later, Harry Ainlay was host to the Provincial Stage Band Festival contest, and HAS Band received an average of 81 marks from three adjudicators. The instrumentation consists of 4 trumpets, 5 saxophones, a string bass, an electric guitar, a piano and percussion. In addition to participating in programs given by the Concert Band, the Stage Band provided the musical entertainment for Awards Night.

The Photography Club has done numerous projects this year. They were based in Mr. Gaelick's Biology classroom. His help was greatly appreciated in keeping the Photo Club going. Unfortunately they were relatively inactive last semester.

The Science Club made an attempt at creating polymers. One such attempt was semi-successful. Solution 9c was evolved over a period of time. Its contents will not be published due to its severity in odor, though it had a liver base and resembled cancer of the bowels. Flammable water was discovered; a solution to the energy crisis. An Extra Vehicular Activity (EVA) suit is expected to be constructed to simulate Zero G spaceflight. John Buchanon will be the test engineer. New chemical warfare devices were created and tested on a bunsen burner. All in all, an excellent year for the Science Club.

The purpose of the Inter School Christian Fellowship is to provide an accepting atmosphere where you can share and discuss freely, learning more about what it means to love God, others, and yourself. We meet every Tuesday at noon hour to enjoy films, discussions and special speakers. The group not only participates in school activities, but also in socials, breakfast meetings, and camps.

Autumn Haiku

The pungent odor
Of sunflowers drying will
Feed birds come winter.

On long autumn nights
Small boys like clumsy bearcats
Play, while mothers call.

Poor white butterfly
Your bright flowers are dying,
Faded memories.

The owl nightly
Flies in the face of the moon
And blinks at the stars.

I can't see the sun
But I feel it on my face
Long after sundown.

A candle in the darkness
Darkness in the light
Both come from one another
And together they seem so right.

And the flower reaches upward
Deckoning for the sun
Feeling the warmth and strength it gets
Not knowing why it's done.

The moss and the stone just lie there
Content for what they be
For they knew they have each other
Throughout eternity.

And you and I, we live our lives
Caught in our inevitable quest
And when perchance we come to meet
It is then our souls will rest.

Chris Dutton

THAT'S LIFE

Mortgages up
Accounts books down
People are running to the door

The water is running
Mosquitoes are buzzing
And everyone's down on the floor

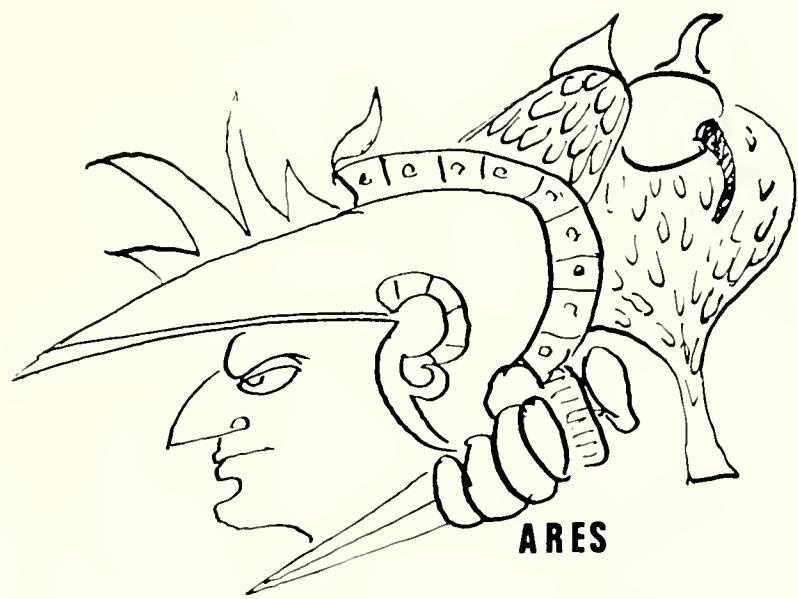

But you're okay, you say
You found a way to pay
All those debts that are climbing up the wall

There's a man, you say
Who was here today
One little paper gets them all

Blood pressure's up
Your health is run down
Everyone's screaming for more

Car isn't running
T.V.'s just buzzing
And "Daddy, that man's here at the door."

Frosh

Commencing this year's annual frosh activities was the House-league obstacle race, an imposing contest which included the box horse and the parallel bars. Later in the week the Students' Union held Kangaroo Court with Judge David Garrett presiding. The sentences meted out ranged from shoe polish on the feet, to being smothered under fifty Frosh cards; the severest penalty was inflicted upon our illustrious President - cream pie in the face! The week wound up with a very successful dance and 700 well initiated grade tens.

The Debating Club had a very active first semester. Members of the club attended tournaments at Athabasca, Fort Saskatchewan, St. F.X., O'Leary, and Queen Elizabeth. In addition, the debators also hosted a successful tournament at Ainlay in September; we also sent the triumphant team of Dwight and Werner to the semifinals in the CFRN T.V. debates which will be held after Christmas. The club acquitted themselves excellently in all their endeavors this semester.

The preceding two pages were meant to be in color, but due to a breakdown in communications, they were printed in black and white. We apologize for this error.

Harlem Nationals

In front of a packed gymnasium, it was the Harlem Nationals over our Titans. Aside from the fine plays, there included such antics such as enlightening instructions in shooting for Ric Rosborough from Big Mac and a free throw attempt by a referee, Mr. Hignell (also coach of our junior Titans).

History of Rock

For the second time running, "History of Rock" was presented to the students of Ainlay. It was an interesting display of rock throughout the ages, with a guest appearance by Len Theusen of CHED radio.

House League

With the addition of a new pool and skating rink, Houseleague really went well this semester, having on the average, two activities and two athletic events per month. Waterpolo, shuffleboard, and badminton were among the athletic events, while in the activities category, there were tiddley-winks and checker tournaments and an Indian arm and leg wrestling championship. At the close of Semester One, Green finished fourth, Blue finished third, Red finished second, and Gold finished in first place with 980 points.

Dances

Harry Ainlay's Frosh Dance was just a sample of what those in the coming year would be like - Fantastic! There is no doubt that this is going to be Ainlay's best year for dances. After a great start with the Unholy Rollers from Seattle, the Hallowe'en dance brought out a good response with Abraham's Children; Students' Union also put on a 'Spook Alley' - messy, but fun. A double bandstand of Karrol Brothers and Feeling played for 800 people at Christmas, culminating Semester One's activities.

ITIES

This picture was taken when the Biology 10 classes of Mrs. Maduram went on a field trip to the Miniskik Hills Field Study Centre. The students had an opportunity to investigate the ecology of the slough, aspen woodland, spruce bog, and pastures under the direction of Dr. Fenna.

During late October, in an effort to free Ainlay from its smothering blanket of apathy, Mrs. Farr staged a pep rally. The participants painted themselves with "T's" and ran throughout the school, yelling and cheering. Although enthusiasm and school spirit ran high that day, apathy was soon master once again. Look around and you'll see what I mean.

Here are some of the other things that have happened at Ainlay this past semester:

- visit to a Hutterite colony.
- visit to the Supreme Court.
- Dr. Jane Sylvius came and spoke about the Child Development Service.
- Peggy Adams came and spoke on hairstyles and fashions.
- Captain Jim Henshaw came and spoke on the militia today.
- with the aid of the city police, a mock trial was set up by a Law 20 class; a reenactment of an actual trial.
- visit to the Armed Forces at Namao.

Wildly colored bright lights, shining in your eyes. Spiralling patterns swinging madly to and fro inside and outside your head. Never-ending lines leading nowhere, coming down at you from out of the black sky. Or are you going up to meet them? An interesting problem . . .

Red, white, green, orange; every color imaginable, flashing, on and off, on and off . . . so fast. Then so slow. And then, as you slowly turn your bewildered head, little people move . . . mechanically; walking, running, jumping; but they don't get anywhere. And you know they don't really even move.

Your head gradually falls apart. In the infinite slowness of time you try to put your brain back together. Things speed up again . . . those silly people, outside, start to move. Faster, and faster. But why? They don't get anywhere either. The question 'why?' is continually plaguing you.

Colored lights start flashing again; you must think of something, or They will take control of you. Objects in front of you start to move. They get smaller; they disappear in the distance. A grey wall of fog looms up before you: Blotting out everything. Even your mind. Your body is borne unwillingly along into this vast nothingness of noise, light, and color, all greatly out of perspective.

Isn't Christmas downtown just wonderful?

Teardrops And Teddybears

We were once all three,
I never meant to hurt you,
It's only hurting me.

I am sitting all alone,
Thinking of the good times,
Teardrops falling on the paper,
As I sit and think of rhymes.

I can't get you off my mind,
Listen to what I say;
Please come back and sit by me,
You seem so far away.

If you feel it in your heart,
To please come back to me,
We will fall in love again
Just like we used to be.

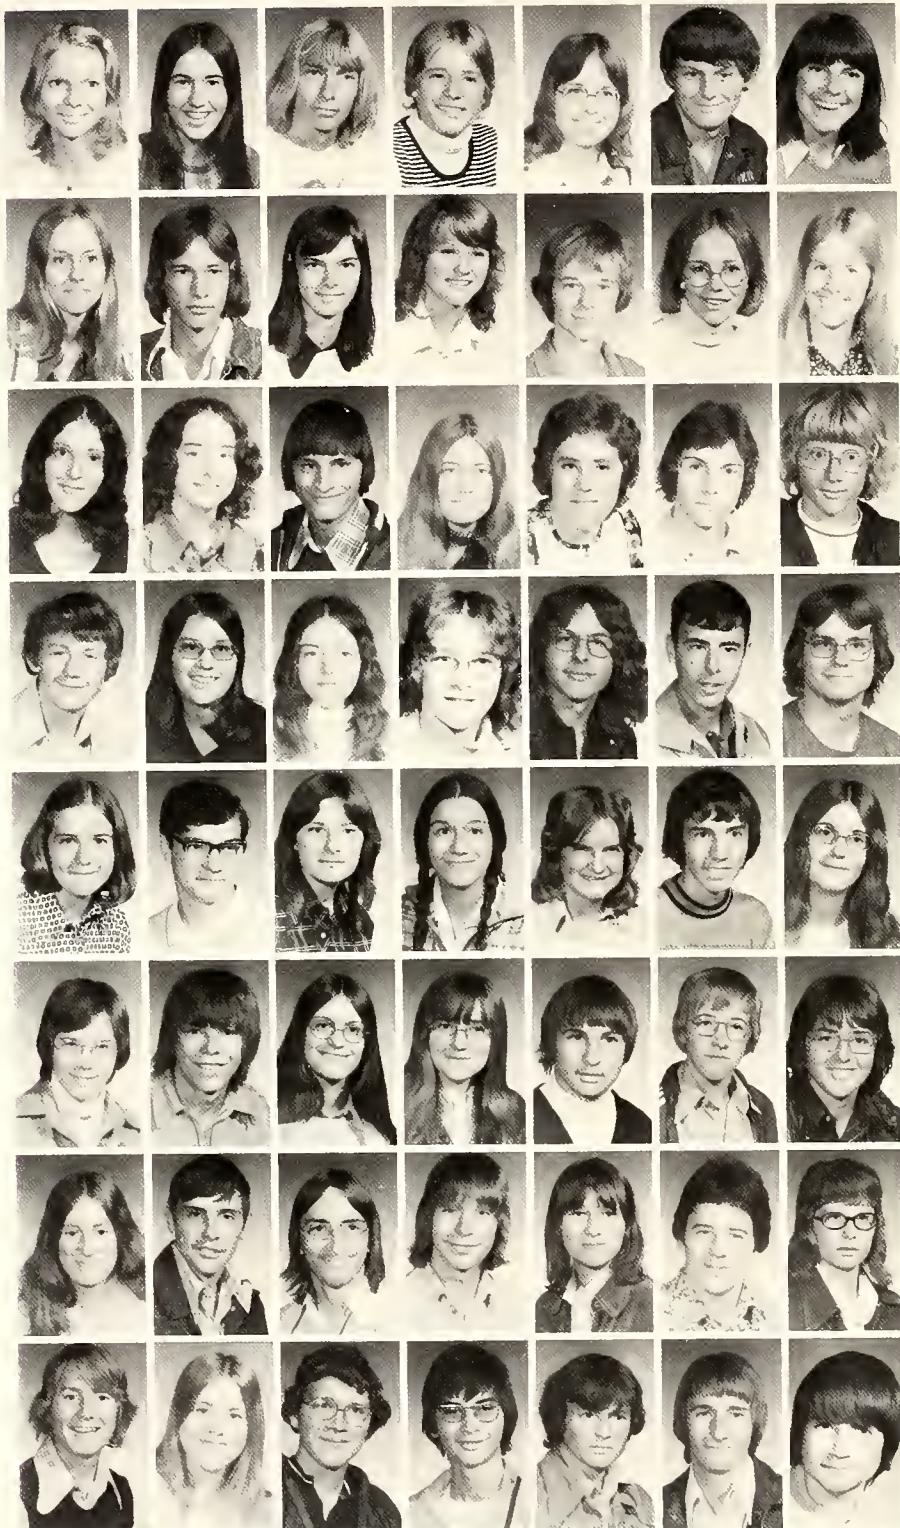

To you, who hold my heart with his,
I love you so very much;
But I know it will always be,
Teardrops and Teddybears for me.

The butterfly has wings of gold,
The moth has wings of flame;
The inchworm has no wings at all
But he gets there just the same.

GRADE 11

The wind swept over the dry land
Making great mists out of snow
Across the fence-bound Fields.
Up and over, down the hills
Whistling down the road,
Over another and another
Sinking and rising again
Passing a farmhouse and a barn,
Sinking and rising
Some more.
There in the distance is a line of trees,
Skeletons lit by moonlight.
Above the snowfences, houses, barns
And trees rides the dawn
Sight seeing,
Creeping slowly, unanxiously across the
Snow; man was stirring,
The creak of a barn door
Joined the parade of morning sounds,
The odours of slop and cows and
Pigs; hit the man,
Dead on, passed him by
And rushed on
To join the dawn.

SEMESTER TWO

Grease Week

Things really got moving this year with Ainlay's Grease Week (Jan. 21-25). Starting on Monday and Tuesday, there was a Grad sponsored film, starring Bill Haley and the Comets. Bubble gum stuffing on Wednesday brought out a lot of people, there being several winners of that event managing to stuff over 40 pieces of gum in their mouths, breaking the previous record. The hoolahoop contest, held on Thursday, was also a tightly fought contest, while the sock-hop on Friday with Teen Angel brought things to a feverish pitch. That night, the gym was filled with greasers. Students' Union even went so far as to run off copies of "Rock Around the Clock" for everyone to sing. Unfortunately (and surprisingly), Teen Angel didn't know how to play that one.

Recently, Joene MacArthur, a student at Ainlay, spoke at a UN seminar. For her excellent performance, she won a trip to New York. Unfortunately, the group sponsoring the seminar was unable to send all the winners, so to send Joene to New York, Students' Union ran two fund raising events.

On February 1 in the theatre, there was a concert with Humphrey and the Dump-trucks, known mostly as a bluegrass band. Although there was little publicity, a fair number of people turned up to listen to the three man group, whose instruments included a 12 string guitar, banjo, auto-harp, and a string bass.

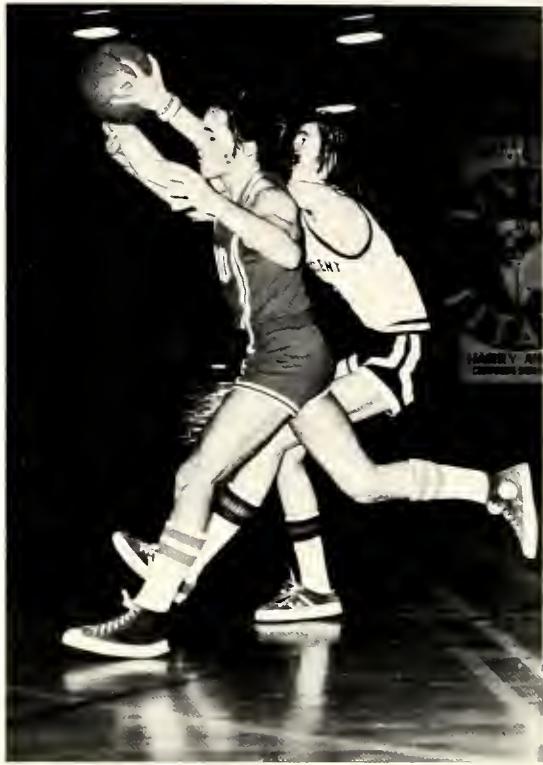

A slightly disorganized slave trade was held on Wednesday in the rotunda. Among those being sold were Ken Flanders, Joene MacArthur, Mr. Bateman, and a mysterious Arabian (alias Mrs. Farr). The buyers owned the slaves for one day, in which they could do almost anything they wished, short of bodily harm.

TRI PROVINCE

On February 1st and 2nd this year, there was something new and very special at Ainlay. Four excellent basketball teams from Vancouver, Calgary, and Saskatoon came and participated in ten high calibre games, two of which were junior exhibition games. In the round robin tournament that covered the two days, Ainlay put on a display of one of its best team efforts all season. The third place final, held at 7:00 p. m. on Saturday was well played, but as coach Lynn Clarke said, "There's not too much inspiration for third place". The first place final was a refreshing change; the fact that the two teams were so closely matched made for an action packed game. The outcome was undecided until the buzzer rang, but Ainlay came out victorious over Crescent Heights, 50-48.

TOURNAMENT

Aside from all the action in the gymnasium, there were plenty of activities going on elsewhere. The Harry Ainlay senior band put on an impressive concert in the rotunda, while in the theatre, the Alberta Ballet Company gave an informative and well attended display. Throughout the day, there were various speakers from the post secondary institutions in this area. Students' Union operated a very successful coffee house with renown folk singer, Paul Hann and Grad sponsored a film. In the evening, there was a dance with Paladin, a new Edmonton group out of Studio City, sponsored by the Students' Union for the visiting players.

Did you see the size of the thighs on those Eskimos? No wonder they beat pur Titans by 70-55. They dominated them by sheer size. But the highlight of the game was the appearance of Wes Montgomery, of CHED radio and also coach of the Esks. The fans called for him throughout the entire game. Finally with two minutes to go, he went out onto the court and, despite the scepticism of the crowd, promptly sunk a basket.

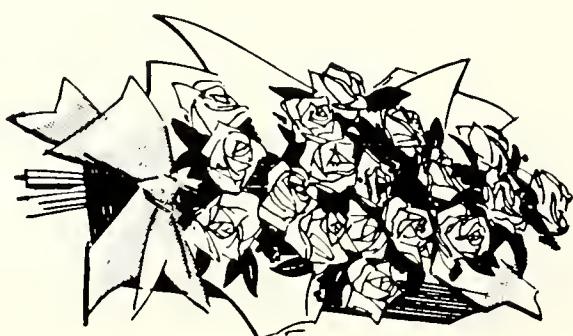

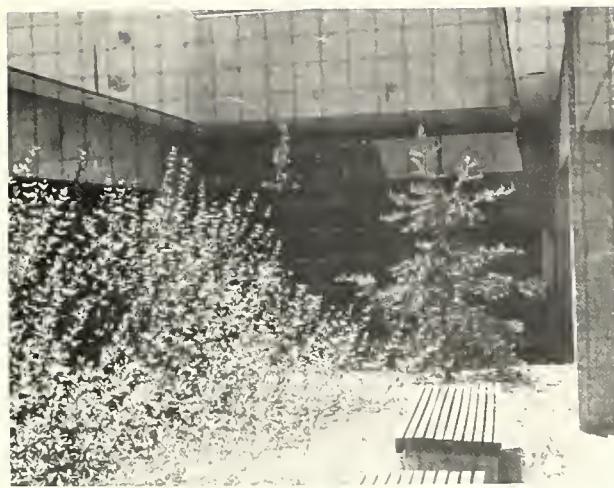

A new dimension to the game of hockey was added when Harry Ainlay challenged Louis St. Laurent. The first and third periods were played by the students, while the second period was a contest between Ainlay and Louis teachers. Because teachers had to be in shape for teaching classes, houseleague rules applied. The Ainlay teachers outscored Louis 2-0 and the Ainlay students 4-1.

NAIAD

There were nine contestants this year for the annual Naiad contest, which commenced on April first. At noon on Monday, there were four activities. Transferring macaroni across the rotunda with oven mitts was the first activity, while the second consisted of carrying Life Savers between the knees, also across the rotunda, into a cup. The third activity was throwing eggs for a distance and finally in the last activity, half the girls were blindfolded and had to put makeup on the other half. There was an impromptu public speaking contest held on Tuesday. In addition, the personal interviews with judges also started. A fashion show was the highlight of Wednesday's events. There were three categories: formal, casual and funny costumes (the girls supplied all of their own clothes). In the gymnasium on Thursday, there was a handicap basketball game with the Senior Titans. The Titans were bound in pairs, while all of the nine girls were out on the floor. The result after 45 minutes of play: 23 to 23. The chariot races were held on Friday, also in the gymnasium. Each girl was carried by five guys through an obstacle race which included the hurdles and the high jump. The judges for the week's events were Mr. Primrose, Mrs. Lundberg, Mr. Bateman, Mrs. Phipps, Steve Comrie, and Mrs. Farr. In the evening, during the dance with Kinlock and Gaetz Avenue, the Naiad Queen, Barb Breckenridge, was crowned.

Harry Ainlay students participated in 3 Mathematics Contests: the Junior Math Contest, the Mathematical Association of America Contest, and the Alberta Prize Examination. The contestants placed high in the standing in all 3 contests. The team of Bill Graham, Andy Telford, Dean Olmstead, Jeff Strangeland, and Sylvia Hobart placed first in Alberta in the Junior Math Contest. The team score was 391. This is a higher score than any previous Ainlay team had made. Bill Graham obtained a score of 118.75 which is higher than any previous Harry Ainlay competitor had made. He placed second in Alberta and third in Canada in a field of 19,017 contestants. Bill Graham also lead the M.A.A. team which included Terry Koplin and Ichiro Fujinaga. The team placed third in Alberta. Bill Graham tied for first place in Alberta with 98 points. This is the first time a Harry Ainlay student made a mark of over 80 - the magic number in this contest. The Alberta High School Prize Examination provided Bill Graham with another prize. He placed third in Alberta and was invited to write the Canadian Olympiad. Special congratulations to Bill Graham since he is only a grade eleven student.

AWARDS NIGHT '74

Awards Night this year was held on Wednesday, May 29.

Curricular Awards

Honor awards were presented to those students who achieved an average of 79.5% or greater, based on 30 credits, while students who achieved an average of 74.5% to 79.49% received Honorable Mention.

Service Awards

These were awarded to students who made contributions to Ainlay in the field of co-curricular activities (except athletics), such as Students' Union, additional work in the bookstore, team managers, etc.

Fine Arts Awards

Participation in drama, art, and music merited an award on the basis of a point system. To achieve a major or minor award, a student accumulates 30 or 20 points, respectively.

Athletic Awards

As with the Fine Arts Awards, these awards were presented for participation and excellence in sports on the basis of a point system. Thirty points merited a minor, 50 for a major, respectively, while double major and triple major were 100 and 150 points, respectively.

The Ainlay House Activity and Athletic Association Trophy

This award is presented to the house with the most house league points, these being accumulated through participation in athletic events and activities, sponsored by the House League Council. This year it was won by Gold House.

Ainlay's House League Most Active Boy and Girl Awards

Participation, leadership, involvement, and being active in house league events are requirements for this award which is presented to a grade 11 or 12 student.

Darcy Hula
Ainlay's House League
Most Active Boy

Kate Pecover
Ainlay's House League
Most Active Girl

Outstanding Boy and Girl Awards

The purpose of the award is to give recognition to the boy and the girl considered to be the outstanding students of Harry Ainlay. These grade 12 students demonstrate good leadership qualities, good citizenship, and have actively participated in co-curricular activities throughout their high school career.

Steve McKinnon
Harry Ainlay
Trophy

Janie Andrekson
Stanley G. Deane
Trophy

Wayne Sanborn

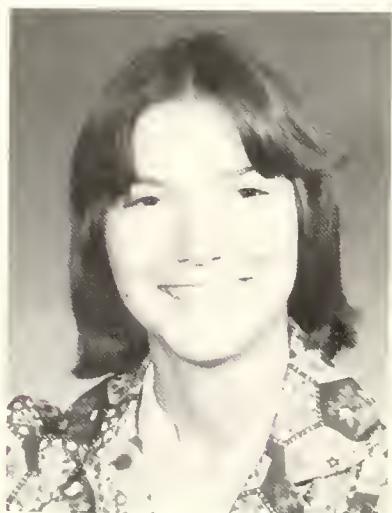

This award is given to the grade 12 boy, who in his grade 12 year, has made an outstanding contribution to Ainlay. He is active in co-curricular activities, is an inspiration to others, is cooperative and courteous, reveals good sportsmanship, and is respected by all.

Brad Anholt
Wayne Sanborn
Citizenship Award

Stanley G. Deane Scholarship

This scholarship is presented to a student who will be continuing his or her education in a post-secondary school program other than in a university. The amount of the award is $200.

Lorana LaPorte
Stanley G. Deane
Scholarship

Harry Ainlay Scholarship

This scholarship is presented to a student who will be entering a program in the field of education. The amount of the award is dependent upon the number of awards given in any one particular year.

Lorna Olson

Grads

GRAD PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Indeed our's was a Grad to remember! It was our Grad and we had waited a long time for it. The new clothing attire finally came out of the closet, the dancing lessons paid off, and everything was in place from the corsages and boutonnieres right down to the phoney I.D. for the after Grad.

Both nights were successful in terms of attendance, participation, and in the fact that most of us had a very good time. We also had the fortune of being endowed with interesting and entertaining speeches, all the way around.

This year's Grad there was "Make My Life Shine" and to this end many senior class members did radiate their talents. The class gift was an embosser, or raised stamp, to be used for special occasions by any section of the school.

I have truly enjoyed being related with the activities of Grad for 1973-74. I believe the key to our fortunate outcome was the cooperation of students, teachers, and administration, and to these people goes my thanks and praise.

On behalf of the Grad Council, I would like to wish all of you the very best of luck in the paths you choose to follow. In the year to come, when you go through the next few phases, I hope you can honestly say about your years at Harry Ainlay, "Those were the good old days".

CLASS HISTORIES

In thinking back, one realizes that when we first entered these halls, we had no history; we were newborns, illiterates, and worst of all, Grade X's. All of these points made us beings without history, a bunch of stragglers from an unknown land. To counter this, we were given a history; mine is MCKIN-SJ-041356-05, number in a Central Office file. In this file there was, I grant you, a written note of what I'd done, but history is more than a note in a computer file, history is a distinct part a person has in the past - thoughts carried in the heads of others - impressions we've spread like peanut butter sticking everywhere.

We have many notorious individuals who's personal history stands out. People like Brad Anholt and John Ferris, winners of the Churchill debates, or people like Ric Rosborough, a Canada Games participant, volleyball star, and last year a High Jump Provincial Champ.

Now, three years later, we are "people" with a history, not I. D. numbers, people remembered, I'm sure, by memory. But the item of major importance is what we, the Graduating class, did as a group to make history - and we were a group!

The beauty of a school, or any other cooperative organization, is that 500 people can get it together, and produce something, as a group. And no one suspects (least of all parents and teachers) how hard we strained and the long hours we put in to do something.

Shouting ourselves hoarse from the top bleachers for our friends and companions running in apparent confusion on the football field below, to give them moral support (and to provide an excuse to miss the French oral tomorrow).

Struggling as a unit, with uncompromising ideals, to defeat authority by diligent conversation at the back of math.

Working together, as a closely knit group, conspiring for long hours to make one Social report into seven totally different ones.

And most of all, nobody, especially parents, knows of the long Friday and Saturday nights, spent in public halls, listening to loved music, and drinking Coke, in valiant effort to find something worthwhile in classes.

But there are things more important to talk about, for we have done a lot of meritorious things.
In our Grade X year:

The Junior Titans tied the City Championship (the only Ainlay football team to do so).

As things got warmed up, in our Grade XI year:

The Senior Soccer Team, with a lot of Grade XI help, captured the East Division title.

Sharon MacQuarrie was voted the Province's Best All Round Gymnast.

Ric Rosborough and his High Jump.

And finally this year:

The play, Ledge, Ledger, and Ledgend, went on to the Provincial Drama Festival.

The Senior Basketball Team won their own tournament.

The Ainlay Debating Team took many major debating tournaments.

Groups like the Students' Union and Grad, have controlled about $17,000.00.

But history is much too big for one historian, but that doesn't matter, because the important history is what's remembered by people, and heck, aren't we people?

And to the administration, as a last request, please take those files that have me down as MCKIN-SJ-041356-05 and burn them - publicly.

Steve McKinnon

Mr. Chairman, Graduands, Ladies and Gentlemen

It is both an honor and a privilege to speak to you tonight. Steve has very ably given the class history of the Graduating class of '74 from the students' point of view. I have been asked now to give that same history from the viewpoint of your grade co-ordinator.

This assignment is one of the many "Firsts" for Ainlay tonight. In addition, this is the largest Grad Ainlay ever had and it is also the first time we have held our Graduating Ceremonies here in the beautiful surroundings of the Jubilee Auditorium; fourthly, you are the first Grade XII's in the history of Ainlay to go through Grade X to XII with the SAME grade co-ordinator and finally, you are the first group that I have ever "Grade Co-ordinated" through the three grades. Although I had practiced being Grade X Co-ordinator the year before you arrived at Ainlay when I had only $\frac{1}{2}$ of the Grade X group - to all intents and purposes, I was your Grade XI Co-ordinator and your Grade XII Co-ordinator as a rank amateur. Thus, in a way, we shared the wonder and newness of each new grade together. In addition, if I made any errors, you can attribute them to my lack of experience; just as I, on a few occasions, attributed your mistakes to the same reason. However, when I go down now and pick up 6 - 700 squirmy, noisy, little Grade X's, I should be able to profit from all the lessons that you have taught me and be, hopefully, a better grade co-ordinator the second time round!

As I walk through the halls of Ainlay these days, I get filled with nostalgia. You know, I'm really going to miss you! Although the ten on my "Most Wanted" list changes from year to year as do the students who sit outside my office in Murderer's Row, I count amongst my friends these very same students - as I do also my friends in Beauty Culture 32, Liranha, Noreen, Karen, Fran, and Linda who keep my hair presentable - and that's a challenge - also my friends in the Auto classes - who call me "Trouble" or "Mom" but who keep my car running and that's even a greater challenge! Finally, my friends in Smoke Room 30 - Brian, Glen, Kevin, Marty, Dale, Colin, Ken, Sylvia, Rosemary, Mary Lee, Sharon, Val, and Regina. Actually, I have mentioned by name only a few of you - but really Grade XII, I will miss you all! (from Rod Little who is the littlest to Tom Cuthbertson, whom I think, is the biggest). It is to your credit that everywhere I walk in this school, I get the distinct impression that I'm walking amongst friends. I have, over the past three years, had to hound you, harrangue you, and hassle you, but you have responded well - and I admire you for it.

I was reprimanded slightly by a friend and fellow teacher the other day when I referred to you as "MY Grade XII's - although I realize that you're not really just MY Grade XII's, I consider it an involuntary tribute to you on my part that I should wish to claim you - if I DIDN'T like you or if I WEREN'T proud of you, I would certainly just refer to you as THE Grade XII.

You know, it is a bit like having a class of 600 students over a 3 year period - working with you on your programmes, your courses, your attendance, and your personal problems - about 100 of you each year drop in and out and keep being replaced by others. On checking the records, over the past 3 years, I have handled about 900 different students but about 450 have stayed stable as the main group that started in Grade X and moved right through to Grade XII and put up with me nobly - year after year.

When you arrived at Ainlay 3 years ago, we had moved into our new addition. We were just beginning the same semester system that we are finishing with now. You were the first group that felt the economic squeeze of 35 credits which is now blooming again into 40 credits. So you were IN on the beginning and the END of an era of 4/6 semester and of programmes of 35 credits only. Therefore, it is to your credit again, that so many of you did manage to pick up your 100 credits or more out of a possible 105 credits - and with the largest honor roll of all three grades - 73 students achieving Honors standing and 50 more Honorable Mention!!! My "top ten" here are Randy Piepenberg, Debra Stack, Joene MacArthur, Melanie Moore, David Shamchuk, Jennifer Graham, Don Smith, Brad Anholt, Steve McKinnon, and Bob Lefsrud.

But school should not be judged or remembered from the academic side of the ledger alone - the co-curricular aspect of school is extremely important as well.

In a way, the history of your life at Ainlay could be laid out in a book with 3 chapters - Chapter I - Grade X, Chapter II - Grade XI, and Chapter III - Grade XII and some of you liked the book so well, that you are planning to write a fourth chapter!

In skimming through Chapter I, I remember you during that lineup in the Gym on your first day of school, during Frosh Week, football games that were truly Titanic struggles, basketball games, school dances, Naiad, and the track meet. A few individuals come to mind - Wendy Wyldman was Gold Medalist for the City Novice Mats in Gymnastics and Gold Medalist in the Provincial Junior Beam. John Ferris won the Short Story contest that year for the Olympus Literary Magazine. As a judge in that contest, that was my first experience with the writing of John Ferris - but I was to see much more of it when I became one of his teachers the following year, in Grade XI when he won the Provincial Playwriting contest. I will remember also the writing of many others in that group that year! Such as Wendy Rempel, Tim Daniel and Mitch Parsons, to name only a few.

Chapter II brings on many more memories - the Slave Sale when Mr. Radomsky bought the whole Social Studies department and had them serve him dinner in the middle of the rotunda and serenade him - Mr. Demaine made a gorgeous Chef! That was the year also that my Language 21 class bought me at the Slave Sale and I got shin splints pushing in a wheelbarrow, guys like Bill Behnke and Dave Garrett, back and forth to the Cafeteria, where, in my lowly position as slave, I was allowed to wine and dine my whole class with pop and revels. Memories of Open House that year come flooding in with its Coffee House, French Cafe, Kandy Kisses, Fashion Show and many other highlights. In sports, Sharon MacQuarrie picked up her SECOND City and Provincial Gymnastic Championships having won them also in Grade X. Ric Rosborough was the Intermediate Boys' Provincial High Jump Champion; the Titan Senior A Soccer Team won the East Division and the Sr. Titan Football Team won Division 1 of Edmonton. That was the year of the big band, Chilliwack - a tremendous time was had by all and yet I can't help but think of Robert Service's words when he wrote, "There are strange things done in the midnight sun by the men who moil for gold!" and I can't help thinking that Mr. Smeltzer looked like Horatio trying to hold the bridge when the drive was on this year to get the big band T. Rex. You students came to his assistance and voted it out - which might have said goodbye to the Big Band Era as well. On stage I have many pleasant memories, but one I will never forget is Janice Roed in the melodrama - flexing her muscles as the muscle-bound hero coming to the rescue of a damsel in distress.

On scanning Chapter III of our history book, I remember vividly Bob Lefsrud's Grad President campaign as being perhaps one of the best campaigns I have ever seen in Ainlay's eight years of existence - you will agree with me that he has well fulfilled his promises when the Graduation ceremonies tonight and your Grad Dance Friday night have ended. A tremendous job! - with tremendous leadership!!!

The Interprovincial Basketball final where Ainlay Senior Titans came out on top was a memorable highlight of this year. I remember, in particular, the playing of Getty, Rosborough, Schulz, and Smith. The plays put on by our Drama 30 for the Children's Theatre are charming memories - especially Debbie Evans as Puss 'n' Boots, Kathy Hampton as the Princess, Doug Myhre as Kanga, Wendy Wyldman as the small kangaroo, Chris Dutton as the Enchanter, Barbara Lake as the Queen or in our excellent Provincial one-act play entry of "The Ledge, the Ledger, and the Legend" - Nigel Scott, Bruce Thomson, and Chris Dutton. However, what I won't mention, are the BARE facts of an incident that took place at the Drama Festival at Banff a couple of weeks ago. I understand it was quite a showing!

Although the adjudicator, Professor Peacock, praised our official entry highly, he had several favorable comments to say about our unofficial entry - such as it was going in the right direction, possible titles could have been "By the Skin of Our Teeth" or "Let It All Hang Out". He concluded with the suggestion that the costuming left something to be desired.

In addition, last month, the team of Bill Graham, Terry Koplin, and Ichiro Fujinaga placed third for Alberta and the N.W.T. in the Annual National Math Contest.

In the debating field this year, John Ferris and Brad Anholt won not only the Athabasca Tournament but also the University Tournament open to university students, and finally 2 weeks ago, the Winston Churchill Debates. Hot on their heels constantly, was another pair of excellent debators, in the persons of Dwight "The Cornhusker" Christianson and Werner Hoerger. The P.A. Announcements will never be the same at Ainlay with the passing of these four announcers!!! Speaking of Brad Anholt, our able treasurer of Grad Council and my personal stock broker, I should report him and Bob Lefsrud, our worthy Grad President, to the S.P.C.A. or someone - how would you like to be reminded daily of how many days were left in which to write your speech? It was a regular countdown - they would either sidle up to me and mutter it in my ear or sidle up to a P.A. and blast it over the whole school - 26 days to go, Mrs. Phipps! It was enough to make me even more nervous than I already was!! (Don't let me kid you, fellows. I enjoyed every minute of it.)

We are now coming to the end of Chapter III - as I scan the topic headings I remember vividly the football, the sock hops, the Hallowe'en dance and Spook Alley, the ski trips, the Christmas Cabaret, the door decorating contest, the gals who decorated my office door (Cathy Gibson, Diane Boyd, Jan Crouch), the Blood Donor clinic, the Grease Week and dance, the Smoking Room redecoration, but I can't help but be reminded here of Winston Churchill's words when he said - "Never has so much been owed BY so many TO so few" - the Naiad hi-jinks and dance and the crowning of the Naiad Queen. Barb Breckenridge, and the many "lean and hungry look" after the 40 hour Starvathon or Famathon (as I think it was called) last month.

Very soon this book will be going to press. It might not be a best seller, but it will certainly be one of the most cherished volumes on the shelves of memory. The future holds promise of many more volumes with each of you as the budding scribe - let each page be written nobly and honorably.

Thus, as we bid farewell to you, the Graduating class of '74, I ask you "What lessons have you learned at Ainlay?" We can't RECALL you for DEFECTS - as large car manufacturers do - we can only hope that over the past three years you have indeed grown in wisdom and in stature - and in favor with God and Man. If this be so - we could not ask for more.

I cannot close this history of the Graduating class of '74 without mentioning a brave lad, Tony Hidson, who didn't quite make it to his graduation. He began with you in Grade X - continued in Grade XI but halfway through the year he found out that he had a drastically enlarged heart. Although in great pain most of the time from the swelling of his entire body, he insisted on coming to school until late September of his Grade XII year when he finally slipped away from us. He was an unusual lad in that he had wisdom and courage far beyond his years and he loved going to school!

I repeat, I'm going to miss you, Grade XII - all of you, your problems, your delegations in search of justice, your birthday wishes to me over the P.A., the past two years, the Valentine greetings from the Auto boys ALSO over the P.A., the personalized sweat shirts by my friend, Jerome Leung, and the samples of donuts, chocolates and cookies brought in by the students of Food Science 30 and Food Prep 32. I have many warm memories of you all. How could I ever forget you!

In conclusion, Grade XII, when you have left my office in the past three years, I have bid each of you farewell with a variety of expressions. May I take the liberty, in closing, of blending them all together into one last farewell - "GOOD BYE, GOOD LUCK, STAND TALL, TAKE CARE, AND MAY GOD BLESS YOU!!"

Mrs. L. Phipps

VALEDICTORY ADDRESS

Mr. Chairman, Fellow Graduates, Honored Guests, Parents, and Friends

To always examine change, to attempt comprehension of everything that touches you, to maintain a high level of personal integrity in the face of the future - these are the ultimate goals toward which our whole beings have been directed. The last twelve years - a most necessary experience - have culminated in a partial realization of these ideals. They have brought us to this night. And now a curtain is lowered, this play is played, these lights are dimmed, and we face what we are, and what we might yet be. For what we were we have our childhood to thank; for what we are we have our parents, our teachers, and each other to thank. For what we might be we have only ourselves upon which to depend.

In the final analysis, we are all islands. Anything worthwhile that we accomplish in our lifetimes, even though we may be aided by others, will be through our own endeavor. The resources to carry us through a lifetime must be found within. Everything given of us to each other and society will reflect an individual purpose. It will have the stamp of an individual.

The importance of our school years, and their value in preparing us to take up our responsibilities as valued members of our society cannot be overestimated. We have been given the tools, the skills, and the knowledge to enlarge our capacities and therefore the world around us. The programmes we have taken have directed us toward a wide range of vocations; they have provided for many different needs and ambitions, and many different people; as far as was possible they have given us a preparatory vocational and academic basis that will stand us in good stead in the adult world.

Our school years have given us good friends, and good memories of some very special experiences. In many ways, we have grown up together. Our three years at Ainlay have allowed us a chance to develop a quality of leadership; they have given us the opportunity to learn tolerance and liberality; they have presented the occasion to participate whole-heartedly in organized lunacy. They have given us the chance to mature and season our judgements with honesty and realism. All in all, in retrospect, these past years have some of the best in our lives.

For the class of '74, the horizon stretches clean and uninterrupted. We have the ability, and we shall have the opportunities to fulfill the promise of our past. The Canadian Business and political imagination, for example, is taken up by enterprises requiring the virtues of an older frontier society - that inner fire, that intelligence, that willingness to take risks; conversely, Canada participates vigorously in the new frontiers which the twentieth century has opened. Our country contributes expert technical knowledge and experience to the exploration and development of outer and inner space. Within the country itself, ways and means to improve our development of resources, our utilization of manpower, and our investigation of new industrial possibilities, are constantly being devised.

High school students such as ourselves will provide the manpower, the know-how, and the technical expertise that just such programs will require. In Alberta, especially, the future will be bright. As one of the richer provinces in the country, it has the ability to absorb new additions to its labour force, it has need of skilled personnel to carry out ambitions and hopeful plans for tomorrow. And we will inherit the responsibility for this expanding industrial complex. We will inherit the well-being of an inherently stable society, and we will be presented with an occasion for self-fulfillment of which our predecessors had no conception.

For along with the promises and responsibilities that are traditionally passed from one generation to another will be other, unique realities to be confronted. We will have more time beyond those hours given to maintaining ourselves than the average man has ever had. Hours to spend learning new crafts, hours to spend with good literature, hours to spend keeping ourselves physically fit, hours to spend travelling throughout the country and abroad to expand our mental horizons. Time to sit down and discover what we are doing and why we are here. Time to devote to the upgrading of the quality of our lives, so that we don't lose ourselves and everyone else in an endless shuffle. Time to stop and talk to people so that we come away satisfied and enriched with their view of life. Time to experience the minutest facets of everyday existence. Time to enter into two or three occupations, two or three new phases.

Saying good-bye to Harry Ainlay is saying good-bye to a phase in our lives that we can never forget. None of us will again embrace the experiences of our high school year. Our high school companions will be scattered to the four corners of the earth. Our past is irrevocable and irretrievable. Now, we can only look confidently to a future for which we have been well-prepared. We are the future.

Joene MacArthur

COMMENCEMENT

The 1974 Graduation Commencement Exercises held at the Jubilee Auditorium, began to majestic prelude of the Harry Ainlay Concert Band as the graduands marched in to their seats. The Grad President, Bob Lefsrud hosted the evening, Mr. Smeltzer addressed the Graduands for the administration and Mr. Williams greeted them from the School Board. Joene MacArthur expressed hopes and aspirations for the years to come in her valedictory address. The student class history was given by Steve McKinnon, the school's sports rep. Mrs. Phipps carried on with an amusing history of her three year encounter with the senior class. The guest speaker for the evening was Mr. Walter Kaasa.

"I told you we should have attended dance lessons!"

EXERCISES

GRADUATION

The Graduation Banquet and Dance, held on May 24 in the Alberta Room at the Chateau Lacombe proved to be a most enjoyable affair for all in attendance. The night's more memorable events consisted of Mr. Radomsky's emotionally charged address to the Graduands, which tugged on the heartstrings of all.

"Boy, am I glad horses can't fly!"

The notorious winners of Ainlay's Golden Fig Leaf Award were not as emBAR-ASSED as they could have been.

BANQUET

As well the special presentations given by Airlay's resident corn husker, Dwight Christenson, added a lighter touch to the evening. The toasts and replies were given by Dr. Mitchner, Brad Anholt, Janie Andrekson, and Mr. Robinson. Dancing followed the banquet in what proved to be a lovely evening.

"I've been waiting such a long three years for this."

"These big, dumb nuts can't behave out of class, either."

To The Grads

As the door closes behind you
You think 'God, it's good to get out!'
Such cheerful thoughts as you wander,
So you leap high and you shout!

But the mind starts revolving
And little thoughts hit your head.
Of school books and essays . . .
You wish you were in bed.

You think of the smokeroom
With stinkbombs afire
Of midterms and finals, and homework,
Piling higher and higher.

But now you know it's time to go
As the leaves the wind has blown.
And so I leave this final note
By some fair poet, unknown . . .

"Count your days by its flowers,
Never by the leaves that fall;
Count your days by golden hours,
Don't remember the clouds at all.

Count your nights by stars, not shadows;
Count your days by joys, not tears;
And above all, please remember,
Count your age by friends, not years."

Chris Dutton

. . ER . . . EINSTEIN?

Einstein proved that $E=MC^2$, where E is energy, M is mass, and C is the speed of light,

- 1) We start our calculation with the formula: $E=MC^2$
- 2) Subtracting E from both sides we get: $O=MC^2-E$
- 3) Now, we factor this as a difference of squares: $O=(MC+E)(MC-E)$
- 4) If the right side of the equation is equal to zero, then:
either $(MC+E)=O$ or $(MC-E)=O$
- 5) Taking the first possibility: $MC+E=O$
- 6) Squaring: $MC^2+E=O$
- 7) Subtracting E from both sides: $MC^2=-E$
- 8) Now, if both E and -E are equal to MC^2 , then: $E=-E$
- 9) The same result will occur following steps 6-8 with: $MC-E=O$
- 10) So we see that $E=-E$. The only way this is possible is if: $E=O$
- 11) If $E=O$, then M must also equal O, because C is a positive constant.
- 12) Therefore, there being no energy and no mass,
Why work?

OR SO THEY SAID . . .

Brave wind aloft
or so they say. Stern cold ranks of sun storm through wild sweeps of cloud, the infiltrating hordes of darkness move silent, oh so slowly through the mourning wreck of day.

 Oh so slowly,
so inexorably it comes, some icy rider from darkened keeps the clutch and freeze with frozen bones.

 To clutch and burn with frozen leers.

Or so they say.

 There are pickets for the darkness, advance sentinels
 for the lord of night,
pushed beyond the realm of black, shadows striving forever
 to join with brothers concealed in the shallow sight of sun. You are among them.

Or so they say.

 Do you strive to join with darkness brother?
Does your pale unkempt face harden and die in the sun?

Does the thick wool of your sweater catch at festering sores?

 Do you cry?

 Do you hope?

 Do you fear?

 "The only thing to fear is fear itself."

Or so they said.

 ". . . bullet twists in midair so that the wound is . . ."

Or so they said.

 "Sergeant Henry Laird was given a royal welcome today today for . . ."

Or so they said.

A QUOTATION

"TODAY, IN A MOVING CEREMONY, SERGEANT HENRY LAIRD RECEIVED HIS COUNTRY'S HIGHEST HONOUR FOR HIS HEROIC ACTIONS IN THE VILLAGE OF -----, -----/ quiet village. swollen sun grins, far across steaming fields/AS THE SECOND OF COMMAND OF A PLATOON PATROLLING THE TOWN, HE TOOK OVER COMMAND WHEN THE PLATOON LEADER WAS KILLED/sudden crack of leering fire/spewing blood covers soft stinging mud/the paleness of intestines slowly fading into death/moment of panic/is it me/is it me dead or alive/is it me/HE SINGLEHANDEDLY STORMED TWO HUTS HELD BY THE ENEMY, AND UNDER EXTREMELY HEAVY FIRE, CLEARED THEM OF THE FOE/quicken flashings of death sting round you/charge forward the light brigade damn the torpedoes full speed ahead/forward full speed ahead/death charge death spins arm around/hut flares in smoke eyes stare in shrieking fear tongue leaps from dying mouth coated with aoen of stinking rotting deathbloodeyes hang in mute fear gore spills throat chokes in gasping drowning grasp/BLEEDING PROFUSELY FROM THREE WOUNDS, HE THEN FURTHER ASSAULTED A FINAL HUT USED AS SHELTER BY A REMAINING SNIPER/heroics come but once/crage the place see the face curl in graceless hate and fear and revengeful death and eyes scream in a thousand soft clinging pieces leap out with shrieking bloody power/kneecap crashes splinters tears dies falls and falls and falls and cries/SHOT TWICE IN THE LEFT ARM, AND WITH HIS KNEECAP SHATTERED, HE DESTROYED THE HUT WITH A HAND GRENADE/mute pissing pain,take me home take me home takemehome/ HE THEN RALLIED HIS FORCE, AND THROUGH HIS OWN INDOMITABLE EXAMPLE, LED THEM BACK TO BASE."

Or so they said.

So you come home with shattered life

 a hole in arm to match the one in soul.

 Will needle tracks festering, rot and burn
 to hold away memories which you spurn?

 And you stare at the sky for a space.

The high wild bugles mourn heroes damned by war.

 You smell the smoking cordite as the firing dies away.

 And you stare there. The warm caresses of darkness sweep around, insatiable in its fervant search for life.

 And you stare there. The broken arch of life sprawls straddled by dark and dope and death. Forever.

 And you stare there. "Are you among them? Are you one of them?"

 "Of course you are. All men are brothers."

Or so they say.
